

Joanna Rozynska PhD is an Assistant Professor at the Institute of Philosophy University of Warsaw (Center for Bioethics & Biolaw), and a senior faculty member of the Advanced Certificate Program in Research Ethics funded by the Fogarty International Center, NIH USA. She is a holder of academic degrees in philosophy, law, sociology, and bioethics. She is a member of the Bioethics Committee of the Polish Academy of Sciences, the National Committee for Cooperation with the European Network of Research Integrity Offices of the Polish Academy of Sciences, and two institutional research ethics committees. Since 2013 she is a Head of the Polish Unit of the UNESCO Chair in Bioethics (Haifa). Her research interests focus on ethics of biomedical research involving humans and ethics of experimental treatment